In May, we'd like to introduce:

A family-run microbrewery with Canadian roots. Since opening our doors in 2022, we have been dedicated to the art of small-batch brewing, ensuring each of our beers receives the attention it deserves.

Triple fff Brewery was founded in 1997 by Graham Trott, a cabinet maker by trade who was a keen home brewer. In 2006, the brewery became a 50bbl system capable of brewing 160 casks of beer per brew.

In June, we'd like to introduce:

We are Simon and Sarah Treen. We both come from Cornish families, something we're immensely proud of. We are also very proud to be producing quality Cornish ales, which is why we have put our name to it.

Multi-award-winning microbrewery that is housed in a renovated sawmill on a heritage site in Heckington, rural Lincolnshire. We share our site with the UK's only eight-sailed tower windmill that's still standing and has its sails intact.
